

App Growth 5 ddfcj U'

Overview: Apple has new requirements for publishing and updating apps in their App Store. Apple now requires apps to be published on their own developer account. In the past, we published apps on our developer account. All new Apple Developer Accounts must be associated with a Duns number that is either the headquarters or single location, branch locations cannot have their own Apple Developer Account.

In short, you need its own Apple Developer account. Once setup, we can help you with the process.
